Abstract

Statistics Lithuania, like other National Statistics Institutes, is constantly moving towards a wider usage of administrative sources. Administrative sources help to spare the costs as well as to improve the quality of the results. In Statistics Lithuania 43 percent of the published results are based on administrative sources.

Administrative sources were also widely used for Population Census 2011, but only as auxiliary information. In 2021 Population Census will be for the first time completely register-based, all the micro data will be obtained by linking number of administrative and statistical sources, no fieldwork will be carried out.

Keywords: census, register-based, administrative sources.
